

MY WAY FORWARD

Date:

My way forward requires a plan, persistence, dedication and inner strength.

My way forward leads to independence, success and wealth.

I turn my back on procrastination, vacillation and ignorance.

I turn my back on indiscriminate spending and unnecessary consumer and credit card debt.

I now make this promise to myself: I promise to commit to a lifestyle which embraces saving and investing. I can only be truly independent when I am financially empowered and I believe that my financial empowerment can only come through a steady, structured investment plan.

I realise that I am my own worst enemy and my greatest champion. I am of little help to others unless I am myself strong. My way forward depends not on the size of my salary or the performance of the stock market. My way forward depends on a disciplined me.

And I say again: I have a plan, I will work my plan, I will not give up, I will never lose patience, I will prove to myself the courage of my convictions, I shall show inner strength.
